Congratulations on completing your course!

Successful completion of the course you have undertaken leads to eligibility to apply for a British Psychological Society (BPS) qualification in test use.

By gaining a BPS qualification in test use you receive:

- 1. A nationally recognised qualification in test use, recognised by employers throughout the UK, and increasingly internationally
 - Educational testing qualifications are available at the following levels:
 - Assistant Test User: Educational Test Administration
 - Test User: Educational, Ability/Attainment (CCET)
 - Having a BPS qualification demonstrates to current and future employers that you are trained to a nationally recognised, certificated standard, and have agreed to abide by the BPS Code of Good Practice for Psychological Testing
 - A BPS qualification may allow you to access certain psychological and psychometric tests that would otherwise be restricted
 - Eligible holders of a BPS Test User: Educational, Ability/Attainment (CCET) qualification may complete a relevant course to become a specialist assessor to progress and write reports for access arrangements.
- 2. Membership of the BPS Register of Qualifications in Test Use (RQTU)
 - The RQTU is an online register of those current and active test users who have gained a BPS qualification in test use, and is searchable by employers and clients
 - Membership of the RQTU allows you to demonstrate to current and future employers your competence in test use
- 3. Free online access to reviews of over 160 psychological / psychometric tests
 - Our test reviews can help you to choose an appropriate test, suitable for your needs
 - All reviews of tests are carried out by Chartered psychologists, who are experts in the field of testing and test use
 - Examples of tests that have been reviewed include tests of motivation; personality; numerical, verbal and general ability; scholastic attainment; memory; cognitive styles
 - All test reviews can be accessed for free on the PTC website by RQTU members.
- 4. Free e-Subscription to the BPS
 - FREE electronic access to The Psychologist, the monthly publication of the British Psychological Society
 - Eligibility to join the Divisions, Sections and Special Groups of the BPS – these are our knowledge centres, keeping our members up to date with the latest developments and research in psychology
 - FREE access to the BPS' membersbenefits package – a range of work and lifestyle benefits
 - The opportunity to upgrade to Affiliate Membership of BPS for a discounted rate – In addition to the benefits listed above, BPS Affiliate Members also receive discounts on BPS workshops, conferences and events, plus extra exclusive online content.
- 5. Quarterly editions of Assessment & Development Matters (ADM) delivered to you and available online at the PTC website
 - ADM is the BPS quarterly publication with articles related to educational, forensic and occupational testing.

What do I do next?

1. Fill in the consent form on the back of this leaflet, tear it out and give it to your course trainer/Assessor
2. On successful completion of the course, your Assessor will complete an affirmation form affirming your competence, and will submit it electronically to the British Psychological Society's Psychological Testing Centre (PTC)
3. Once your eligibility to receive the qualification has been confirmed, the Psychological Testing Centre will send you an invoice for the qualifications applied for, plus an annual fee to join the BPS Register of Qualifications in Test Use (see page 4 for details of fees)
4. Pay your fee by phone or by bank transfer
5. The Psychological Testing Centre will send you a Certificate of registration for each qualification achieved (see page 5 for examples of Certificates of registration)
6. Your name and qualifications will be placed on the British Psychological Society's online Register of Qualifications in Test Use (RQTU)
7. You will now be able to access all RQTU member benefits (detailed on page 2)
8. Maintain your registration on the RQTU by paying an annual fee and affirming your continued Maintenance of Competence in test use.
